

New York City

New York City is the largest city in the United States and one of the most famous cities in the world. It is much larger than Los Angeles or Chicago. The city is known as "the city that never sleeps" because it is busier than many other cities, both during the day and at night. New York is also one of the most important financial and cultural centers in the world. It is home to the United Nations Headquarters and the New York Stock Exchange. Every year, New York welcomes more tourists than any other city in the United States.

New York's climate is colder in winter and hotter in summer compared to many European cities. The summer temperature is usually higher than 28°C, while the winter temperature is often lower than 5°C.

Statue of Liberty

The Statue of Liberty is one of the most famous landmarks in the United States. It is taller than many other statues in the world and can be seen from far away in New York Harbor. It was a gift from France in 1886. For immigrants, the Statue of Liberty was the first and most hopeful sight when they arrived in America. Today, it is still one of the most visited tourist attractions in New York.

Central Park

Central Park is the largest park in Manhattan. It is much bigger than most other city parks in the United States, covering 843 acres. The park has lakes, gardens, walking paths, and a zoo. It is one of the most popular places for New Yorkers to relax, and it is also more peaceful than the busy streets around it. Because of this, people often call Central Park the "green heart" of New York City.

Times Square

Times Square is one of the busiest places in the world. It is brighter and more crowded than any other square in New York. Over 300,000 people pass through Times Square every day, making it even busier than many airports. It is also one of the most exciting places to visit at night because of its colorful lights and theaters. On New Year's Eve, Times Square is more famous than any other place for its Ball Drop, a tradition that attracts millions of viewers around the world.

Complete the sentences with one of the following words. Use a comparative each time.

< hot, big, busy, tall >

1. New York is _____ than Chicago.
2. The Statue of Liberty is _____ than many other statues in the world.
3. Times Square is _____ than most other squares in New York.
4. Summers in New York are _____ than winters in London.

Dictation: Fill in the blanks.

"In the very _____ of the city lies Central Park, a _____ green space where people go jogging, _____ boats on the _____, or simply _____ on the grass. The park is _____ and _____ than many neighborhoods, making it a real treasure for New Yorkers.

There is also Times Square, bright with _____ and crowded with people. Giant screens, theaters, and _____ billboards make it one of the liveliest places in the city. _____ New Year's Eve, the square _____ with millions of people from around the globe who gather to _____ the year together."